

The Rainbow After Rain

But sometimes, the sky turns dark without warning.

*And the things we love
are caught in the wind.*

A watercolor illustration of a young girl with curly brown hair in pigtails, wearing a blue dress over a white shirt and brown boots. She is kneeling in a muddy field, covering her face with her hands and crying. Rain is falling heavily around her. In the background, there are dark, stormy clouds, a lightning bolt, and a large tree on the right. A pink flower lies broken in a puddle near her. The text 'KRA-KOOOOM!' is written in a large, hand-drawn, black font across the upper part of the scene, with a lightning bolt striking the letter 'M'.

KRA-KOOOOM!

The storm brings a pain so deep,
it feels like the rain will never stop.

*The world feels very quiet.
Very empty.*

You walk through the days feeling like you are wrapped in a heavy blanket.

(A soft giggle)

We remember the beauty of what we loved, rather than just the storm that took it away.

Sometimes, a sudden shower will catch you by surprise.

It may take days, weeks, months, or even years... but time will heal all wounds.

*And after a year,
as the earth turns...*

...maybe we learn to forgive the storm. Because without the rain, the soil could not nourish the new seed.

Somehow, the pain subsides, and every wound begins to mend.

Never give up in life. Because there will always be hope, and a rainbow after a storm.

The Cycle of the Storm

	Innocence	Loss	Numbness	Rebirth
Lighting/ Mood	Warm Golden Hour 	Torrents & Heavy Shadows 	Foggy & Flat 	Radiant Sun-Showers
Flower Motif	Blooming & Glowing 	Broken & Washed Away 	Empty Dirt Patch 	Glowing Sprout
Color Palette	Vibrant Yellows/Greens 	Muddy Blues/Blacks 	Sepia/Grey Washes 	Illuminated Rainbow Hues

Maybe... just maybe.